

JAIRO ALEJANDRO VELOSABOLAÑOS

FULL STACK DEVELOPER

I'm Jairo Alejandro Velosa Bolaños, a passionate full-stack developer with experience in creating high-performance web applications and enhancing user experiences. My skill set encompasses a variety of languages and technologies, including JavaScript, React.js, Redux, Axios, React Router DOM on the front-end, and Node.js, Express.js, Sequelize, bcrypt, Jest, and JWT on the back-end. Additionally, I have a deep understanding of HTML and CSS for designing attractive and responsive web interfaces.

EXPERIENCIA

SHOPPE MEXICO - DISPUTAS

Atento 2022 oct - 2023 feb

I played a crucial role in the Disputes department, where I analyzed and verified user transactions, making evidence-based decisions to resolve disputes fairly and efficiently, thus enhancing customer satisfaction. Additionally, I led a virtual team of five individuals, optimizing productivity in a remote environment through online communication and collaboration strategies. These experiences strengthened my skills in data-driven decision-making, handling delicate situations, and project management.

APLICACIONES - ACADEMLO

Music (Academlo)

- I comprehensively developed a music application as a full-stack developer, taking on the responsibility for both the front end and the database. In this platform, users have the ability to add and manage their favorite songs, albums, and artists in a personalized manner. My contribution encompasses both the user experience on the front end and the structure and data management in the database, resulting in a fully functional and complete music application.

Ecommerce (Academlo)

- I developed an appliance e-commerce application that enables users to log in, make purchases, and access detailed product information. To achieve this, I created both the backend, including the database, and the frontend, using technologies such as Redux and React Router DOM. The result is a comprehensive platform that provides users with the ability to manage their purchases and efficiently explore household appliance products.
